

Handbook for Research Students (PhD and MLitt)

Global Human Development
2024/25

Introduction

Welcome to the Global Human Development (GHD) PhD program! We are delighted to meet you and look forward to working with you over the next years.

Most of the information you will need for your studies at UCD is in the latest version of the Graduate Research Student Handbook.

This brief document points out items and additional information specific to the GHD PhD program, which is a thematic PhD under the SPIRe remit.

While studying at UCD, you will notice that there are PhD students in a large variety of different specializations within SPIRe, as well as on specialized thematic PhDs that cross disciplines. Within SPIRe, we have students working on British-Irish studies, European studies, political theory, human rights, development studies, nationalism and ethnic conflict, et cetera. The thematic PhD programs that fall under the SPIRe remit are: Quantitative Social Science (QSS), Global Human Development (GHD), Complex Systems and Computational Social Science (CSCS) and Quantitative and Computational Social Science (QCSS). The QSS and CSCS programmes are now being phased out, having been replaced by the QCSS programme.

The course requirements for these students differ, but there is some overlap with those in the PhD Politics and International Relations.

If after reading this handbook you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact us or anyone listed under contact details below.

About the Global Human Development Programme

The PhD in Global Human Development is a 4 year full time 'sandwich' programme jointly offered by UCD and any other university in a 'developing country' willing to accept students for their obligatory research stay. The programme has been developed for government personnel and public servants (such as Higher Education academics, research institutes) mainly in East Africa

PhD students on the programme are required to spend at least one trimester per academic year at UCD. Upon returning to their home country, the candidates are expected to be in regular contact with their local supervisors.

The Global Human Development PhD program spans four years for full-time students (it is allowed, but not typically feasible, to finish within three years). For part-time students, the course is five to seven years.

All UCD PhD programs have two stages of training:

Stage 1 comprises the first 12-18 months (for full-time students) within which the PhD student defines the research plan, develops specific research skills through a program of recommended modules and specialized training and initiates original research work for the doctorate degree.

Stage 2 comprising the remaining months, is primarily dedicated to continuing the original doctoral research but may also include some advanced education and training.

The PhD Lifecycle on the Graduate Studies website provides more information on the process.

The GHD PhD Program incorporates a range of recommended taught modules, completed over Stage I, followed by a program of original research leading to the award of Doctoral degree by research at the end of Stage II.

GHD Programme Structure

As set out by the requirements of UCD Graduate Studies, GHD students are required to complete a minimum of 30 credits of course work, plus a programme of original research leading to the award of Doctoral degree by research. More information can be found here.

Modules

The modules for the Global Human Development programme are outlined below. Students may register for other modules depending on their research theme with permission from their supervisor and the relevant Module Coordinator.

- GSBL50050 Approaches and Techniques in Qualitative Research
- LAW50030 Advanced Research in Law
- POL42050 Quantitative Text Analysis
- POL42530 Pol of Trade and Investment
- POL50220 Social Science Methodology
- SOC40640 Social Simulation: Methods and Models

The range of modules is subject to change.

The College of Social Sciences and Law schools also make a range of modules available to graduate research students outside their school each year. For a sample of such modules, click here.

The Global Human Development PhD programme is unique in that the students will only spend certain trimesters at UCD.

Collaboration with Trinity College Dublin

SPIRe collaborates with the Department of Political Science in Trinity College Dublin (TCD), with the sharing of certain modules.

TCD operates a Coding camp for incoming students, as a preparatory course for Quants I. This is not compulsory.

This year's Coding Camp will take place from Monday 2nd to Friday 6th September 2024.

Additionally, SPIRe PhD students can take one substantive module at the Department of Political Science in TCD over the course of their degree. Available modules will be communicated by email before the start of the academic year.

Research Integrity Training

Research Integrity Training is a compulsory element of all research degree programmes for students admitted after August 2019. For more information, follow the link here. As of 2024 intake completion of this training will now be a prerequisite for transfer to Stage II.

Research Ethics

Research ethics applies to all members of the UCD community who conduct research that involves human and/or animal subjects. Prospective researchers must read the policies and guidelines on the research ethics website <https://ucd.ie/researchethics>. It is the responsibility of every PhD researcher to ensure appropriate ethical approval or an exemption thereof before engaging in any relevant research activities.

Research Studies Panel (RSP)

One of the first tasks on starting your PhD is to select suitable people for your RSP. The function of your RSP is twofold: First and foremost, it is an advisory panel that will provide you with feedback on different aspects of your project. Secondly, during Stage 1 it also is an assessment panel charged with evaluating whether you make sufficient progress on your project (see below: Progress assessment). In addition to the requirements set out in the Graduate Research Student Handbook, please note the following GHD-specific regulations:

Membership of RSP

The panel comprises of the principal supervisor/co-supervisor and at least two (but normally no more than four) advisers, one of whom must be a UCD faculty member and one of whom must be a 'local' supervisor. The RSP will appoint a chair independent of the supervisor/co-supervisor. Research Studies Panel Advisers may include faculty, adjunct, visiting or research staff or relevant professional staff of the University or external to the University.

Establishing your RSP

You should engage with your supervisor within the first few weeks of your first trimester to establish the full membership of your RSP. When you know the makeup of your RSP, you should email the PhD Administrator so that the details can be entered on your record.

Meeting frequency

RSPs should meet at least twice per academic year throughout the entire PhD process. During stage 1 there should be at least the following three meetings:

Initial meeting

You should meet your RSP by the middle of the first trimester to become acquainted with them and to give you access to the additional expertise to support your work.

First progress assessment meeting

The purpose of this meeting is to ensure that students have a viable proposal and viable research timetable. If a student is to complete within three-four years, then it is essential to ensure the project is defined at an early stage. By the relevant deadline in the above table, students must submit:

- A detailed research proposal (approximately 2500 words);
- A detailed work schedule;

- A piece of substantive work, for example a literature review or methodology section (up to 5000 words).
- The panel must report its assessment of the student's progress in the RPDP for this meeting.

Second progress assessment meeting

The second progress meeting should take place by the end of trimester 4 for full time students and by the end of trimester 6 for part time students. The RSP must have received and reviewed one chapter of the student's thesis before this meeting.

The panel must report its assessment of the student's progress in the RPDP for this meeting.

STA preparation meeting

The RSP should meet roughly two months before the STA application to provide feedback as well as prepare the RPDP that is submitted as part of the STA application. (See below for details).

The panel must state whether or not they support the student's progression into stage 2 in the RPDP for this meeting.

Meeting reports

For each RSP meeting a Research and Professional Development Plan \(RPDP\) should be developed and uploaded to the student record on SisWeb by the student. A copy with all signatures should also be forwarded to the PhD Administrator.

Transfer from Stage I to Stage II in the GHD Program

In order to progress from Stage I to Stage II of the QCSS PhD Programme, a formal assessment of the student's progress takes place at the end of Stage I. The formal assessment is conducted by the GHD Stage Transfer Assessment panel, which is organized by the Director of the GHD programme*. The GHD Stage Transfer Assessment Panel usually comprises faculty members of UCD SPIRe. The Principal Supervisor, and any co-supervisors, are not normally members of the panel. For this transfer assessment the PhD candidate must have completed 30 credits of coursework with a minimum of B grade on average.

*If the Director of the GHD program is the supervisor of a GHD student, the SPIRe Graduate School Director will organize the GHD Stage Transfer Assessment panel for that student.

The GHD Transfer Assessment Panel base their judgement on the following materials:

- A written statement of progress from the Principal Supervisor;
- A written statement of progress and future research by the student, including an updated research proposal outlining the overall structure of the thesis;
- One completed chapter or research paper;
- An overview of grades obtained on the program to date;
- A copy of the latest RPDP. Please ensure that an RSP meeting is held at least two months prior to your transfer assessment

Please note: the student will be required to make a brief presentation (3-5 mins) to the panel.

Description of GHD Stage II

A PhD student is required to complete a thesis based on original research, which will form the basis of the final Viva Voce examination. The thesis concludes a programme of research under which the student may produce working papers, co-authored papers with their supervisors, attend conferences, etc. The research component of the degree programme includes regular meetings with the supervisor, meetings with the research supervisory panel (RSP) every half year and a student Research and Professional Development Plan (RPDP) which is regularly reviewed.

Seminar Series

The school in which you are based – SPIRe, Sociology, Economics, etc. – organises a seminar series for all staff and graduate students in the school. Attendance at these seminars provides an excellent opportunity for you to develop your presentation skills, learn about research that takes place across the school, and practice providing constructive feedback in an academic setting.

The SPIRe seminars will take place in the school boardroom (F301) on Wednesdays from 12-1pm. The Series Program can be found here.

If you wish to take part in the SPIRe seminar, please contact the SPIRe Seminar Series Coordinator at the beginning of your 3rd year to ensure that you are included in the presentation schedule.

Early Career Researcher Forum

The SPIRe Early Career Researcher Forum is a new series of events at the School of Politics and International Relations. The PhD Forum provides guidance to early-career researchers and facilitates informal discussions between SPIRe faculty and PhD students.

Two SPIRe faculty members will provide a short overview of the topic and reflect on their experiences. The remaining time will be devoted to questions and answers.

More information can be found here.

Thesis Preparation

Different theses in SPIRe have very different forms, please work with your supervisor and RSP on determining which thesis form (monograph or in the alternative thesis by papers format), structure, and length etc. is best suited for your project.

You can find the general requirement for a PhD thesis here.

Thesis as a Collection of Papers

The current Graduate Research Board guidelines on thesis formats can be accessed here.

However, in the case of the multiple-paper format thesis there are some subject-specific requirements which apply to PhD candidates at SPIRe. These must be also taken into account and can be found here.

If you intend to pursue this thesis format, this should be discussed in advance with your supervisor.

For non-SPIRe students, please check with your supervisor to determine if there are other, school-specific requirements.

If you intend to pursue a multiple-paper format, this should be discussed in advance with your supervisor.

Thesis submission and Viva voce

Please plan well ahead for your submission as setting up the exam committee and getting it approved by the Graduate Research Board can take several months.

For the formal requirements of the submitted document, please see here.

For information on the process of submitting the thesis, please see here.

Please also keep an eye on the SPIRe PhD FAQ section for up to date information.

Funding opportunities

SPIRe Fund

SPIRe has a very limited amount of money available to fund participation by its own postgraduate research students and postdoctoral researchers in Irish and international conferences and summer schools each year. Applications will be announced and reviewed by the UCD SPIRe Research Committee. funding calls will be communicated via the SPIRe email ListServ. Guidelines and the application form are available on the 'Current PhD Students' section of the SPIRe website:

<https://www.ucd.ie/spire/study/currentphdstudents/>

Irish Research Council

The Irish Research Council (IRC) is an important source for funding for research students.

Keep an eye on the website below for more details and the closing date on the next funding round <http://research.ie/funding/goipg/>

Please talk with your supervisor, if you are applying. Please note that this is a very competitive fellowship and, depending on the current state of your proposal, it might make sense to apply at a later stage. You are allowed to apply for this grant twice. When preparing an IRC application, your RSP serves as an excellent forum to receive feedback. You could use one of your RSP meetings to discuss a draft of your application. The IRC also operates an Employment Based Postgraduate Programme and an Enterprise Partnership Scheme. Details can be found below.

Political Studies Association of Ireland (PSAI)

The Political Studies Association of Ireland set up a funding support scheme for PhD researchers to attend national and international conferences. The covers costs for conference registration and/or travel expenses of up to €1,250. Note that applicants need to be PSAI members.

General information

Important dates

For UCD term dates, see <https://www.ucd.ie/students/keydates/>

Please note teaching dates for TCD modules may differ from those in UCD. You should consult the TCD website for further information.

Class Rep

The class reps for students whose supervisor is based in SPIRe are Paula Montano (gina.montanoparrales@ucdconnect.ie) and Sarah King (sarah.king4@ucdconnect.ie).

Class Reps are invited to attend the SPIRe school board meetings, which typically take place twice per trimester. Please contact your class reps at any stage if you have issues/queries and, if needed, these can be brought to that forum. That does not preclude you from contacting the PhD Director or PhD Administrator personally.

Research Space

F302 is the school's PhD room and is available to any PhD student whose supervisor is based in SPIRe. It has wireless connectivity and space for working on laptops. Space in the room is limited and the PhD class reps have taken on the task of access allocation. Research students may apply, with the support of their supervisor, for a workspace in the College of Social Sciences and Law research student rooms or in UCD Geary Institute. Space in these locations is limited and most spaces are allocated to full-time students, but the School will endeavour to ensure that all research students who need workspace on campus will be accommodated.

Subject to the opening hours of the building you will have access to F302 at all times via the key code (which will be provided to you at induction). Do not divulge this code to anyone outside of the School. Please ensure that the door is kept locked when unoccupied. In addition, the last person to leave in the evening should ensure that the equipment is switched off and the wall sockets are also switched off.

It is also possible to get 'out of hours' access to the Newman Building. Please ask the PhD Administrator for more information.

If your supervisor is based in another school, you will need to contact that school regarding a desk space.

Administration

The PhD Administrator for the GHD program is Ms Dara Gannon, who is available to provide administrative advice and information to all research graduate students (contact details at the end of this document).

Computer, photocopying, fax and other facilities

Please consult with Dara Gannon about access to photocopying and printing facilities.

Library

When you register with the University, you will be given a UCD student card. This also acts as your Library card. You will need your card to enter and exit the James Joyce Library. A UCARD system has been introduced, which provides an electronic purse for making purchases within the University.

UCD Library (<http://www.ucd.ie/library/>) has access to a vast range of online journals and electronic databases, many of them accessible from remote locations as well as on-campus. A dedicated information session will be arranged for SPIRe research students during the first semester.

ALCID

This is a co-operative scheme between a group of participating Irish university libraries, which enables postgraduate students (Doctoral, Masters by research and by exam) to have access and reference rights to the stock of participating libraries. The library of Trinity College Dublin is particularly useful as it is a Copyright Library and contains a wide range of books, journals and other publications.

You can apply for an ALCID card at the Information Desk in any UCD Library or download the application form: <https://www.ucd.ie/library/use/visitlibs/>

ILL – Inter Library Loans

Many publications not available directly from the Library are obtainable via the Inter-Library Loan Service. This service is available to all staff and registered students of the College and to registered external borrowers. Staff and students are charged €6.00 per application. Journal articles from branch libraries can be obtained for readers on payment of €2.50. More information can be found via the link below

https://libguides.ucd.ie/collection_services/interlibrary_loans

SPIRe has a limited amount of funding available to assist PhD students with inter-library loans. This can be accessed on a case-by-case basis by contacting the PhD administrator, Dara Gannon.
